life by softening the blow.

The Oct. 28th edition of the Telephone furnished its readers with the latest news about the young woman. "The condition of Miss Ida Weimer, so cruelly assaulted Friday night by some' unknown person, remains unchanged . . . She had some fever yesterday, which is natural from such a serious wound, but thus far no complications have arisen to give serious alarm . . . The fear is that, having suffered such a serious blow on the head, the injuries may be permanent."
