

Bloomington was wary of tricks

Looking back, from page C1

pumpkin pie, milk, apples, candy, cider and doughnuts were Goldie Brookshire, May Lanum, Maggie Lanum, Nell Prince, Gladys Jones, Bezel Lutes, Bernice Shelly, Blanche Dobson, Sylvia Hoff, Alice Wagner, Helen East, Gertie Groh, William Worley, John East, John Heitger, Irvin Jackson, Thomas Campbell, George Hanna, Hully Prince, J. Steward, Guy Gray and Roy Hupp.

The Priscilla Club members ("and their gentlemen friends") had a party too, hosted by Mrs. Frank Johnston and Lilly Jackson. The Johnston home west of town was (predictably) decorated with red and yellow candles, jack-o-lanterns, corn shucks and pumpkins. Among the guests were the Merle Norris, John Curry, John Jackson, William Downing, Bert Coan, Frank Johnston and wives and Lilly Jackson, Maude and Ethel Weimer, George Parks, Charles Moore and Mary, Glen and Howard Borland.

A couple of Sunday school teachers entertained their classes. The hostesses were Miss Delia Grant on South Fess Avenue and Miss Grace Bray on West Kirkwood Avenue.

Eunice Anderson, who lived on East Tenth Street, also had a party. Among the guests were Louise Rogers; Glenn, Kenneth and Ray Hinkle; Dowman Harper; Francis Cure; Florence Bracken; Opal and Joseph Houston; Mary, Bonny and Nellie Andrews, Mary and Dale Cox and Eunice Andrews.
