county passed Congress a few days ago, was signed by President (Theodore) Roosevelt, and Judge Miers is to be congratulated upon his successful management of the bill, which was passed after such long delay. The details of the long contest are extraordinary and are said to have few equals in the military history of the county."

It is likely that Roosevelt — himself a military veteran — was only too happy to help by putting his signature on the bill. In a sense, the act was just in time. McCalla died only a few years later, a Civil War hero in record as well as in fact.
