

Article cast aspersions on city's women

---

Women, from page A1

---

and be permitted to associate with, beauteous maidens who now hold sway over masculine student hearts, he would be driven to frenzy because cruel fate did not assign his youth to the present generation. As it is, he must content himself with recollections of the 'ancient widows,' 'faded flirts,' and 'maidens of uncertain age,' of his own young days, and whom, we conclude, he was unable to persuade to surrender."

It was not reported by the Telephone whether were any feminine demonstrations on the Courthouse Square or sudden departure from Bloomington of all females between "certain" ages. When the Indiana newspaper next flared up again, the subject was a different one.