

Bloomington campus had fans, foes

Looking back, from page A1

whose end has not yet been found, that abound in many natural cavities; and there are numerous cascades."

It should be noted that Foster was a 15-year-old freshman at the university — an indication of the quality of his preparatory teachers in Pike County. His journey to Bloomington took four days, a fact of student life that seemed to confirm another criticism contained in the Locomotive letter: "It (IU) is located in an out-of-the-way place, to which no one can get with any convenience, and where no man well-qualified for the station of teacher will live."

Next week: Foster's opinion of Bloomington females.